Destitution in Newfoundland. OTTAWA, Ont. July 23.-Hon. dell, from St. Johns, N. B., arrived Wednesday evening, to confer with the Government as to some means of relieving the destitute poor on the Newfoundland and Labrador coast. Over 500 families are starving, while in Labrador at least 1,000 families are in the worst state of destitution. One hundred and twenty persons have died to far. The glass, the first of July, stood at zero. A large number of starving fishermen from Indian Harbor have just arrived to implese food from the Government and techniques for friends left behind. No crops ton be grown. The chances are that 1,000 people will have died before another moretic.
